was found in San Francisco and arrested by the immigration authorities there. Island and proceedings for his deportation were hurried along by the Department of Commerce and Labor. Commissioner Watchorn interceded for the man. After having heard his romance of how he had sawed his way out of his cell by awaiting times at which his nished him with three table knives and challenged him to get out once more by the same means the man has now been sawing for three days. Although Commissioner Watchorn was free in promising photographs of and interviews with the lion tamer he has not allowed any one to see him, and when questioned directly on the subject to-day by an Evening World reporter said that the entire matter was now in the hands of Commissioner Keefe. He added that his methods in employing the lion tamer methods in employing the non-tamer in his Monte Cristo like task had been entirely approved by his superiors.

"How many bars has the man sawed?" he was asked.
"Well, I don't know exactly, but through one at any rate," was the reply.
"How many hours a day does he work?"

"Then, since you have seen Commissioner Keefe and the Secretary of the Department, you believe that none of the employees had a hand in it?"

"That is my impression."

"But you said two days ago you would send some men to Sing Sing over this."

"I have no recollection of having said so," was the reply.
